

PUTNAM MARVEL 1880

Putnam Marvel with Waterbury Lens and Rotary stops. Removable Ground Glass. Unlike its predecessor the Scovill this camera has a different finish it's varnished giving it a greenish tinge. Rumor has it; this camera is constructed from left over parts from the old Scovill factory after Marvel bought them out.

This camera was very popular as a hobby camera also used by professionals. It was reasonably priced and slightly rarer than its predecessor the Scovill. This example has the original finish and a fine patina.
